

SEATTLE SYMPHONY
GERARD SCHWARZ, MUSIC DIRECTOR

FREE COMMUNITY CONCERT

Thomas Hong, conductor
Amber Archibald, violist
Seattle Symphony

Friday, January 15, at 8pm

Mendelssohn: The Hebrides (“Fingal's Cave”), Op. 26
Jones: Benediction

Stamitz: Viola Concerto in D major, Op. 1

Tchaikovsky: Selections from Symphony No. 2 in C minor, “Little Russian”

South Seattle Community College • The Brockey Conference Center
6000 16th Ave. SW • Seattle, Washington 98106

Hosted by the West Seattle Kiwanis Club

Houston native Amber Archibald received her bachelor’s degree in violin performance from Indiana University and her master’s degree in viola performance from Rice University. She currently is pursuing a Doctor of Musical Arts degree at the University of Washington, studying with Melia Watras. Archibald also serves on the faculty of Seattle University and has performed throughout the United States, and in Portugal, Austria and Germany.

This concert is presented as part of the ACCESS Project, and is supported in part by the Mayor’s Office of Arts & Cultural Affairs, 4Culture, The National Endowment for the Arts, PONCHO, The Moraine Foundation, Burlington Northern Santa Fe Foundation and US Bancorp Foundation.

