

Jan. 25, 2021 |

DESCRIPTION

A contractor for Seattle Public Utilities will begin emergency work to repair a damaged sewer main line in Fautleroy Way SW between SW Alaska St and SW Edmunds St.

SCHEDULE

Work is scheduled to begin Thursday, Feb. 4, 2021. Anticipated hours are Monday – Friday, 7 am to 6 pm. Work is anticipated to take 10 – 14 days.

LOCATION

See yellow outline on map for approximate work areas. All work will be completed in the right of way.

ANTICIPATED IMPACTS

During the work you can expect:

- Equipment and work will take place in the center lanes Fautleroy Way SW and in the southern sidewalk of SW Alaska St near the Fautleroy Way SW intersection.
- Two-way traffic will be maintained on both sides of the work area in Fautleroy Way SW and the bike lane will remain open.
- The southern sidewalk of SW Alaska St near the Fautleroy Way SW intersection to be closed.
- Equipment and materials staged in the right of way.
- Sidewalks and traffic lanes will be re-opened outside of working hours.
- Typical construction noise, dust, and vibrations during working hours.
- Metro service will continue as usual, with stops open. Traffic Flaggers may assist in accessing the bus stops if necessary.

CONTACT

For more information, please contact Stefanie Hegland, resident engineer, at (206) 423-2605 or stefanie.hegland@seattle.gov.

